HER Imperial Highness has, in a Letter to the Regency of Courland, express'd the utmost Affection towards the Nobility and People of that Duchy, She assures them, that, following the Example of the late Empress, she will ever protect the Courlanders; that she will endeavour to support them in their Privileges; that the Troops of the Empire shall always be ready to defend them, and prevent them from being oppress'd by any of their Neighbours; and that, agreeable to these Assurances, 12000 Men have receiv'd Orders to hold themselves in Readiness to march on the first Notice towards the Frontiers of Courland.

London, Nov. 29. Letters of the 14th Instant, O. S. from Dusseldorp, say, that Recruits are raising with great Diligence and Success throughout the Palatinate, as well as in the Dutchies of Berg and Juliers; and that the King of Prussia, who is also raising Recruits on the Frontiers, has order'd his Forces to be augmented with 10 Men in a Company; and that he has not only given Commissions for raising 10 Regiments more, and as many Squadrons, but appointed Persons to negotiate with Foreign Powers for Auxiliary Troops.

Many People have been all along mistaken as to the Origin of the Duke of Courland and his Family. Some have reported his Ancestors to be French, and others Prussians. His true Name is John Buren, or, according to the German Pronunciation, Biren. His Family was originally of the County of Homberg in Westphalia, from whence it went and settled in Courland, where they liv'd a good while in Obscurity, till the kind Notice taken of them by the late Czarina, when she was Dutches of Courland; after which they assum'd the Name of Biron, and the Quality of Gentlemen; consequently, the Dutches of Courland's being called to the Throne of Russia was the Epocha of their Fall.

The Duke of Courland is allow'd a Ruble a Day for his Maintenance, as are also his Dutches and each of his three Children.

Madrid, Dec 5. 'Tis certain that the Court is firmly resolv'd to support its Rights to some Parts of Italy, and particularly to the Duchy of Milan; Rights founded on a Disposition of Charles V. and a Convention made between the Emperor Ferdinand II. and Philip III. King of Spain. 'Tis assur'd, that the Marquis de Villarias has already declar'd the Intentions of the King to the Minister of the Grand Duke of Tuscany residing here. The Court causes the utmost Diligence to be used in the Preparations which are making to transport a Body of Troops into Italy. The Treasurer-General has deliver'd out 900000 Piastrs, to defray the Expence of this Expedition. All the Ships of War which remain in the Ports of this Kingdom are fitting out, so that 'tis hop'd in six Weeks time a Fleet of twenty Men of War will be ready to convoy the Troops, &c. design'd to be sent into Italy, of which Squadron the Count de Clavije will have the Command. The Troops intended for this Expedition are marching with all Diligence towards Catalonia, were they are to rendezvous. 'Tis said, that the Horse will march thro' France, and that the Foot will be sent by Sea. Tho' no Orders have been dispatch'd in relation to the Ships which are to transport the Troops, 'tis not doubted but that as soon as every thing is ready, a sufficient Number for that Purpose will be easily found.

Warsaw, Dec. 7. N. S. As soon as the Primate of this Kingdom heard of the Fate of the Duke of Courland, he sent for all the Senators and Nobility in Town, and held with them what they call an Interim, or occasional Senatus Consultum, in which they came to the following Resolutions, viz. 'That the Duke of Courland having been oblig'd for that Dignity to nothing but the Recommendation of the late Czarina, there was no Likelihood that the States of that Duchy would reclaim him, and much less of his being able to support his Title in the Circumstances to which he was now reduc'd; that upon Advice that the Court of Russia intended to send Forces to Courland, in order to take that State under its immediate Protection, the Republick ought without delay to maintain its indisputable Rights to that Duchy; and that there was absolute Necessity of petitioning the King to send a Minister to Petersburg, to represent that Courland being a Fief of the Crown of Poland, 'tis the Republick's Right to take that Duchy under its Protection, and that he hopes the Court of Russia will recede from their Design of sending Troops thither.'

Turin, Dec. 8. The Court receiv'd Yesterday an Express from Madrid, which put the Ministers into a great Hurry; it being reported, that the Court of Spain had some Designs upon Italy. 'Tis assur'd, that the King has resolv'd to augment his Army to 70000 Men, in order to preserve a Ballance in that Part of Europe.

London, Dec 9. Before the Bavarian Minister at Vienna set out on his Return home, he left a Protest there in his Master's Name, the Substance of which is as follows.

"That the Claims of the House of Bavaria on the Austrian Hereditary Countries, in Case the Male-Line of this last House should become extinct, are founded on divers Dispositions, both of an ancient and modern Date: That as well before as after the late Emperor had required of the Empire the Guaranty of the Pragmatick Sanction, and the Order of Succession which his Imperial Majesty had established in his House, his Electoral Highness of Bavaria persisted in a firm Resolution not to permit any Prejudice to be done to the Rights of his House in this respect.

That all the World knows that the Acts call'd Obligations, Oaths, Acceptions, and even Renunciations, which the

the most Serene Electress of Bavaria made before her Marriage, and which were approved by the Elector her Husband, can give no Force to the Pragmatick Sanction, since the Electress, by these Acts only, renounced her Rights in Quality of Archduchess, but not the Rights belonging to the Elector of Bavaria, of which no mention at all was made at the Time of her Marriage; so that in this Manner the Elector might approve that Renunciation, without Prejudice to his own Rights, which have nothing to do with it.

That as the Archduchess has taken Possession, by the Title of Princess Heiress, of the Regency of all the Hereditary States and Kingdoms of the House of Austria: And on the other Hand as the Elector cannot but look upon such an Attempt as extremely Prejudicial to the Rights of his House, he finds himself under a Necessity to prevent it.

That for these Reasons his Electoral Highness finds himself obliged to protest solemnly against the said premature, illegal, and (to him) prejudicial Enterprizes, reserving to himself to make good, without Restitution, and in the best Form possible, all his Rights as well as those of his House, as he will amply shew hereafter, &c.

An Extract of a Letter from Petersburg,

London, Nov. 12. 'With what Repugnance the Princess Anne accepted and sign'd the Disposition of the late Emperor is well known. She had even publicly declar'd, that the Duke of Courland had taken Advantage of the last Moments of that Princess, in order to get himself declar'd Regent. Ever since the Day of the Death of the Czarina she has been constantly giving Marks of her Discontent, and in the most mortifying manner affronting the Regent. When he went to wait upon her she treated him with the utmost Disdain, and he was no better receiv'd by the Duke of Brunswick. The Regent seem'd rather to disregard than resent these Affronts; and on the 7th of November presented that Prince with the Commission of Generalissimo and Grand Admiral, which he contemptuously tore in Pieces, saying, "Sir, it would by no Means become me, nor have I occasion to act in any Employments under your Regency." The Duke was push'd on by the Princess Ann to act in this Manner. The Regent at length out of Patience at being so scornfully treated, was so imprudent as to publicly complain of the Duke of Brunswick, which gave the Princess Anne an Opportunity of forming a Party into which she principally drew the Counts Munich and d'Osternan, whom she at first reproached for having assisted the Duke to obtain the Regency, but the two Lords protested that it was the Duke's Work alone, he having prevented every Body from coming near the Person of the Czarina in her last Moments. They further assur'd the Princess, that they were ready to sacrifice themselves for the Emperor, as well as for her and the Duke. It is to be observ'd, that these two Lords had been inform'd that the Duke Regent had determin'd to ruin them, in order to gain the Affections of the Russians; whereupon the Counts pray'd their Part so well, that they drew off from his Interest almost all the Senate, and the Generality of his Party. The more the Regent perceiv'd his Danger to encrease, the more he endeavour'd to secure himself. To that End, he intended to have taken the young Emperor out of the Hands of his Father and Mother, under Pretence that his Health and Life were in Danger: He even propos'd the Thing to the Senate, but no Body durst second him. In short, he even entertain'd a Design of Causing the Princess Ann and the Duke of Brunswick to depart from Petersburg, and moving the Senate that it would pray them to retire to some other Town in the Russian Territories, because it was to be fear'd that their Presence in that City caused dangerous Parties to be form'd. This Project was determin'd on the 17th of November, between the Duke, his abominable Jew Lipmir, and some other Favourites; but as the two Lords had their Spies at the Duke's, they were inform'd of every thing that pass'd there; and on the 19th, at a secret Conference held at the Princess Anne's, the Destruction of the Duke was resolv'd upon, and put in Execution as has been published.

DECLARATION of his Prussian Majesty, containing his Motives for marching a Body of his Troops to Silesia.

'Dec. 15. The King of Prussia, by causing his Forces to enter into Silesia, has not been induc'd to take this Step from any ill Design against the Court of Vienna, and much less with a View to disturb the Peace of the Empire.

'His Prussian Majesty found himself indispensably oblig'd to have Recourse without delay to this Proceeding, for challenging the incontestable Rights of his Family to this Duchy, founded upon ancient Conventions of Family and Confraternity, between the Electors of Brandenburg and the Princes of Silesia, as well as upon other honourable Titles.

'The present Circumstances of Affairs, and the just Apprehension he has of being defeated by such as form Pretensions to the late Emperor's Succession, have required Dispatch in this Undertaking, and Vigour in the Execution of it.

'And tho' these Reasons did not permit the King to expostulate the Matter previously with the Queen of Hungary and Bohemia, yet they will never divert his Prussian Majesty from strenuously espousing the Interests of the House of Austria at all Times, and from being the firmest Prop and Support of it upon all Occasions that shall offer.

The above Declaration, which was communicated the 25th ult. O. S. to all Foreign Ministers at Berlin, has also been deliver'd at the Hague by M. Rasfeldt, and is to be likewise given to other Ministers of the King of Prussia at the several Courts of Europe, who at the same Time are order'd to declare by Word of Mouth, That his Prussian Majesty, by this Proceeding does not mean to do the least Prejudice to the Pragmatick Sanction. A Manifesto is preparing at Berlin, and will soon be publish'd, setting forth the Rights of the Brandenburg Family to the Duchy of Silesia.

The Number of his Majesty's Ships, Vessels, and Bomb-Sloops, now in Pay.

Hague, Dec. 23. N. S. The States of Holland separated to day, having first authorized unanimously their Deputies in the Generality to recommend and assent to, on the part of this Province, a further Addition of Ten thousand Men to the Troops of the Republick; as well as to declare this Province's Resolution and Readiness to pay immediately into the Treasury of the Union, its Quota of some former Estimates relating to the Fortifications and Magazines.

'Dec. 24. Those of the 21st ult. from Petersburg say, that the Committee appointed to examine the Papers of the Duke of Courland have found Proofs that he held a secret Correspondance with several Courts of Europe, and that having obtain'd Leave to write to the Princess Regent, he sent her a Letter, in which were these Expressions, "That in

in his present Misfortune he calls to mind every Moment his Conduct both before and since the Death of the late Czarina, but that he cannot conceive what he has done to disoblige her Imperial Highness; That it never was his Design to affront her or the Prince her Consort; That if nevertheless he has fail'd in his due Respect, in any one Instance, he begs her Imperial Highness to believe, that 'twas only thro' Inadvertency, and owing to the Perplexities attach'd to the Administration of the Empire; That 'tis not to beg Mercy of her, that he takes Liberty to write this most humble Letter to her; That after such a severe Proof as he had met with of the Instability of human Grandeur, he can be no longer affected with what concerns himself personally, and that therefore he is ready to submit to what Sentence soever shall be pass'd upon him, and that all the Favour he has to beg of her Highness is, that she would please to cast an Eye of Pity upon his unfortunate Family, who were altogether innocent of any Faults laid to his Charge; and that if he obtain'd this Favour, he should spend the Remainder of his Life in imploring God's Pardon for his Sins, and his Blessing on the Sacred Persons of the Emperor, her Imperial Highness, and the Prince her Husband. &c.

When the Princess read this Letter, she seem'd to be affected with it; and People begin to think, that the Duke will not be so severely treated as was at first given out. 'Tis still said, that the Dutchess will be confin'd in a Convent, but that their Children, of whom the eldest still continues sick, will have Pensions. They write from Moscow, that the Populace, who twelve Days before made publick Rejoycings for the Duke of Courland's Accession to the Regency, had made as great for his Disgrace, burning him in Effigy, and committing all the Extravagancies with which Passion is capable of inspiring Mobs. They add from Petersburg, that the Velt Marshal de Munich was seiz'd with a violent Cholick just after he din'd, but was reliev'd next Day by a Vomit, and is since perfectly recover'd, and has had a long Conference with Mr. Finch the British Minister.

Dec. 25. Advice is receiv'd at the Hague, that the great Floods which have lately happen'd have done considerable Damage in many Parts; and among others, has made a Breach above forty Yards long thro' a Dyke, situated between Lexmonde and Ameyde, in the Country of Vianen, by which Means the neighbouring Lands many Leagues distant are laid under Water. The same Letters add, that the Dyke near Hensden was broke through, and all the Country of Altena drowned.

Charlestown, Jan. 16. This Morning the Reverend Mr. WHITEFIELD, went on board the Minerva Capt. Meredith, in order to embark for England. He has preached here 22 Times, besides exhorting almost every Night to great Companies at his Private Lodgings. The Word was attended with much Power, and the Congregations large. On Saturday last He was sent for by a Warrant to appear before Mr. Whitaker, his Majesty's Chief Justice, for being concerned in correcting a Letter published by Mr. Bryan, wherein He hinted that the Clergy of the Church of England, break their Canons daily. He confessed the Charge and was admitted to Bail, and is to Appear by his Attorney at their next general Quarter-Sessions. He proposes, GOD willing, to return to America, in less than a Twelve-month, and to publish the Account of Monies given for the use of the Orphan-House, immediately upon his Arrival at London.

Extract of a Letter from Newport, dated Febr. 19.

By Capt. Clark and Jefferson who arrived here the 16th and 17th Instant, from St. Eustatia, the former 35 and latter 16 Days Passage, we have Advice that Lord CATHCART died the 24th Dec. at Dominica, and that the Fleet were sail'd the latter End of December from Back Star (vulgarly so called.) We also per same Conveyance have Advice and Confirmation that the Sloop Victory, the Vessel that was sent to Convoy your Forces, had taken the Town of Oronoque, with a Battery of ten Guns, without the loss of one Man on our Side; he took out of the Town 2000 Pieces of Eight, a considerable Quantity of wrought Plate, with other valuable Plunder, and in the Harbour took two Vessels, one of them had been 18 Months on the Coast, and had just taken her lading on Board, she had a great Quantity of Money, the Cargo Cocoa: upon the whole we reckon he's made the greatest Voyage of any Privateer this War; as he was passing St. Thomas's a large Spanish Privateer came up with him; they exchanged several Broad-Sides, in which Powers kill'd him a considerable Number of Men; she than sheer'd off, being a Bermudas built Sloop and a fine Sailer, and Powers foul and deep, and so got clear; the Victory lost one Man, and the Capt. shot thro' the Leg. By the same Vessels we hear that the Revenge Capt. Berry had taken a Prize, and had her condemned at St. Christophers, and was out in quest of two rich Prizes, which we flatter our selves he has taken. Capt. Davidson landed 56 of his Men on one of the Spanish Islands, 53 of them were kill'd on the Spot, and the other three mortally wounded, so that he put off, and in his Passage to Surinam, where he's arrived, took a rich Prize, with but 20 Men on board; he is refitting; in order for another Cruise. The General of St. Christophers fitted our two Ships to take Oronoque, but upon viewing the the Battery and Town they durst not venture, and so returned to leave the Conquest to the gallant Rhode-Islanders.

We also hear that Capt. Powers brought away 50 Negroes from Oronoque.

Extract of a Letter from Newport, dated Feb. 27.

Capt. Still, who arrived here the 19th Instant from Antigua, informs us, that in his Passage hither, Lat. 31. 20. M. Long. 70. from London, he met with Capt. Buxton from Gibraltar, bound to South Carolina, who inform'd him, that on the 9th Instant he saw a French Fleet of 17 Sail, all capital Ships of War, in Lat. 31. Long. 65 from the Lizard, who steer'd E. N. E. with the Wind at South. They are suppos'd to be the French Fleet from Carthage, with the Riches of Peru.

NEW-YORK March 16, 1740.

By a Letter from Jamaica, we have an Account, that Capt. Warren has taken (since our last Account,) three more Prizes. The one a large French Ship who sail'd from Bourdeaux, to St. Martha, and other Spanish Ports, and was then bound for Carthage, going into which Place Capt. Warren took her; she had on Board as we are inform'd 1387 Pistoles, 250 l. Jamaica Money in Silver, 200 Ounces of Wrought Plate, 700 Barrels of Bourdeaux Flower (said to be as good as the best Flower, made in these Parts,) 80 Saroons of Cocoa, besides Gold and Silver Lace, and Buttons, Cambrick, Mullins, Velvets, Silks, Iron, Pitch, Tar, &c. which was safe carry'd into Jamaica, for Condemnation: The other a large French Ship bound to the same Places laden with Flower, Iron and Naval Stones, in which last were found in her concealed Hold several Letters of great Consequence, and the French Contract for Supplying the Spaniards with Provisions, and an Account of several other Vessels to sail soon after to the same Purpose. The third a Spanish Sloop laden with Salt and a few trifling Commodities, both which were safely arrived in Jamaica.

Yesterday About one of the Clock Afternoon, a Plumber being at Work in stopping a Leak in one of the Gutters in Fort George, the Roof of the House took Fire, and the Wind blowing very fresh at South East, the Governor's House, the Barracks, and Secretary's Office, were in less than two Hours consumed; but by the Vigilance and Activity of the Magistrates and Inhabitants, most of the Books and Records in the Office, and some Part of the Governor's Furniture, were saved; the Fort, Fortifications, Guns and Carriages, not having received any Damage.

PHILADELPHIA.

Tuesday last Mr. WILLIAM LOGAN, eldest Son of the Honourable JAMES LOGAN Esq; was married to Mrs. HANNAH EMLEN, a young Lady of Beauty, Merit and Fortune.

We hear that Capt. Wright is arriv'd in England.

Last Sunday Evening Two Men knock'd at the Door of the House of Mr. William Bunting, in Montgomery, in this County, and being admitted, immediately fell upon him with Clubs, knock'd him down and bound him, together with his Nephew, a Boy about 12 Years of Age, that lived with him. Then they broke open his Chest, took out his Money and some of his Wearing Apparel; and robb'd his Store of sundry valuable Goods, took his Horse and made off. The Boy found Means to get loose, and unbound his Uncle, who still had some Life remaining, but died in a few Hours. On Tuesday, Philip Cane and Hugh Calaghan, suppos'd to be the Murderers, were apprehended in this City, but upon Examination, obstinately denied the Fact, tho' 'tis said, the Deceased's Pocket-Book, with some of his Wearing Apparel and Goods, were found upon them; and their Clothes were stain'd with Blood in several Places. They were both committed to Prison. Mr. Bunting's Horse was found Yesterday in the Woods not far from Town.

ON Sunday Night the 22d Inst. a most barbarous Murder was committed on William Buntin, of Montgomery Township, by two Men, who are since apprehended and committed to Goal. It is suspected that there were other Persons concerned in the said Murder; but more particularly one Alexander Gregory, by Trade a Taylor, (whose Gestures discover him to be such) of middle Stature, short black Hair, black Eye-brows, short neck'd and stoops a little. He had on a large Coat of a light olive Colour, slash'd Sleeves, grey yarn Stockings, talks much, and has the Brogue on his Tongue. The said Gregory has several Times been seen in Company with the said Murderers before they Committed the Fact. And it appears from many Circumstances that he was concerned in the Murder or at least assisted, by procuring a Horse to carry the Murderers off. Care and Diligence in apprehending the said Gregory, in Order that he may be brought to Justice, will doubtless meet with deserved Reward.

WHereas my Father, James Logan, as Attorney to Latitia Penn (now Aubrey) has either sole or jointly with Others, from time to time granted to divers Persons sundry of her Lots in the City of Philadelphia, and Lands in her Mannor of Mount-Joy, in the County of Philadelphia, and also in her Mannor of Stening, in the Counties of Chester and New-Castle, On every of which Grants there is a certain yearly Quit-Rent reserved to the said Latitia and her Heirs, &c. for ever, which Quit-Rents, by the several Tenants failing to make their Payments agreeable to their respective Tenures, have fallen greatly into Arrears. And whereas, the said Latitia hath now of late renewed her Powers to my said Father, and also to me the Subscriber, jointly and severally, with express Orders, among other Things, to receive, collect and recover, for her Use, all such Arrears of Quit-Rents as are due to her by the said Grants. I do therefore hereby give notice, and require all and every Person and Persons, who are by virtue of such Grants, possessed of any Lots in the said City, or of Lands in the said Mannors of Mount-Joy or Stening, or either of them, that without fail they bring in and pay their said Arrears to me the next ensuing first Month (called March) in Philadelphia, where attendance shall be given for that Purpose at my House in Second-Street, the three last Days in each Week of the said Month, during the same. Or on failure thereof, or of their appearance to give security for such Payment in some reasonable time, they must expect to be proceeded against according to Law.
